The Bahá'í Chair for World Peace 2014 Fall Lecture | Oct. 15, 2014 @ 4:00PM

Lisa F. Jackson Two time Emmy Award winning filmmaker Lisa F. Jackson has been making documentary films for over 35 years. Sex Crimes Unit, her most recent film, is a portrait of prosecutors in the Manhattan District Attorney's Office as they work to bring justice to victims of sexual violence. Jackson shot The Greatest Silence: Rape in the Congo in the war zones of the Democratic Republic of the Congo. It won a Special Jury Prize for Documentaries at the 2008 Sundance Film Festival. She is currently finishing a documentary about the epidemic of sexual assault on college campuses and the burgeoning movement of survivor activists who have begun holding their schools accountable. Jackson studied filmmaking at MIT with Richard Leacock and has directed and/or edited dozens of films for PBS.
