

INCOME INEQUALITY

Interdisciplinary Dialogue Forum

Wednesday, October 28, 2015

12:00 – 1:30 p.m.

McKeldin Library Special Events Room

Income inequality is one of the major issues facing society. Join us for a discussion with campus scholars from a variety of disciplines.

Dr. Charles E. Olson, R. H. Smith School of Business

Income inequality: Trends, causes, consequences and appropriate policy responses

Dr. Bradley Boekeloo, School of Public Health

Income inequality: connection to health disparities

Dr. Ethan Kaplan, Department of Economics

Historical shifts in income distribution and its causes

Dr. Christopher Foreman, School of Public Policy

Major challenges in the overlapping varieties of inequality, and an emerging School of Public Policy Initiative

Dr. Ruth Zambrana, Department of Women's Studies

Income and wealth inequality: race, Hispanic ethnicity and gender

Introductory Remarks: Dr. Gary White, Associate Dean, Libraries Public Services

Moderator: Dr. Eric Lindquist, Librarian for History, American Studies, Classics, Religion

Librarians/Subject specialists:

Celina McDonald, Government Documents

Dr. Kelley O'Neal, Geographic Info Systems (GIS)

Kelsey Corlett-Rivera, Head, Research Commons

Karl Nilsen, Data Management and Curation

UNIVERSITY
LIBRARIES