Weekend Plans

March 4- March 5: Baltimore by Kristen Greenidge

Friday & Saturday at 7:30pm; Saturday at 2:00pm, The Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center

Kristen Greenidge's Baltimore examines racism on college campuses through the story of Shelby Wilson, an African American resident adviser for a group of freshman at a New England college. Speaking about her play, Greenidge notes, "I was particularly aware with Baltimore how the context was changing so rapidly with national attention on these [race-related deaths]. So I had to be really careful with Baltimore about how I was treating these incidents in the play" (www.americantheatre.org). Baltimore is part of the Big Ten Theatre Consortium's New Play Initiative which is commissioning works by women playwrights to be produced at universities across the country. Tickets: Student/Youth- $10 Regular- $25. Location: The Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center. Showtimes and more information here.

March 5: Educator Workshop- National Woman's Party
11am, Sewall-Belmont House & Museum

The theme of 2016 Women's History Month is "Working to Form a More Perfect Union" and the Sewall-Belmont is inviting educators to come learn about the activism and activities of the National Woman's Party on this theme. Workshop participants will collaborate on teaching strategies to celebrate the work of the NWP and gain insight into the digital collections at the Museum.

Reserve your spot today! Tickets: $5. Location: Sewall-Belmont House & Museum 144 Constitution

Ave., NE Washington, DC.

For more information and a schedule of Sewall-Belmont's upcoming Women's History month programs visit here.

March 6: Oriented Directed by Jake Witzenfeld

5:30pm, Carnegie Institution for Science

Oriented follows the lives of three Palestinian friends exploring their national and sexual identity in Tel-Aviv during the Israel-Gaza conflict of 2014. In the midst of war, these three best friends form a non-violent, cultural resistance group ("Qambuta") making viral content for gender and national equality. While their work may not change the world, it certainly helps them deal with the frustrations that accompany their multi-faceted identities. Part of the DC Independent Film Festival.

Location: Carnegie Institution for Science 1530 P St NW, Washington, DC 20005.
Time: March 6 at 5:30pm. Tickets: $11. Learn more about the film & the festival here.

March 4-
March

6: Washington Jewish Film Festival

The Washington Jewish Film Festival presents over 60 films along with talkbacks with directors, panel discussions, and storytelling events. Among the themes of this year's film festival are Re-framing the Artist and Rated LGBTQ. For a complete lineup of films and venues, click here.

*WMST/LGBT Travel Grants to Black Girl
Movement Conference at Columbia University*

Application due: TODAY, March 4, 2016 @ noon

The Department of Women's Studies will support the participation of a group of UMD undergraduate students in the Black Girl Movement Conference at Columbia University, April 7-9, 2016. "Black Girl Movement: A National Conference" is a three-day gathering at Columbia University in New York City to focus on Black girls, cis, queer, and trans girls in the United States. Bringing together artists, activists, educators, policymakers, and Black girl leaders themselves, this first national conference on Black girls seeks to address the disadvantages that Black girls in the United States face, while creating the political will to publicly acknowledge their achievements, contributions, and leadership. Information about the conference is available here.

The travel to conference grant is open to all undergraduate UMD students, but preference will be given to Black Women's Studies minors.

Students who are interested in attending should submit one paragraph by Friday, March 4th at noon to Professor Barkley Brown via email -barkleyb@umd.edu- outlining why you would like to attend and how you would share the experience/knowledge with your peers and the wider Women's Studies/LGBT Studies community. Please also indicate whether you can go all three days, and if not, which days you are available.

Academic Enrichment Grants for Women's Studies Majors

Department of Women's Studies

Women's Studies Majors are eligible to apply for Academic Enrichment Grants to fund research, participation in academic or leadership conferences and workshops, or other activities that will enhance your education in women's, gender, and/or sexuality studies. Application deadline is mid-March for projects during the February 2016 to August 2016 time period. Students submitting applications by March 23 will be notified by April 11 if their project will be funded.

To apply, send a 250-500 word statement about the project/conference/workshop/organizing meeting, etc. for which you are requesting funding and indicate how you see this relating to your work in Women's Studies. Also, submit a resume, budget, the name of one professor who can serve as a reference, and, if applicable, a list of any other sources from which you are requesting funding for this same project. If applying for an activity that occurred prior to the application deadline, please submit copies of receipts to accompany your budget.

Applications submitted after the scheduled October and March deadlines will be considered if there are any remaining Academic Enrichment funds for the semester.

For questions about these grants or assistance with developing your proposal, please talk with Professor Elsa Barkley Brown, Director of Undergraduate Studies. Professor Barkley Brown's spring 2016 office hours are 9:30-11:30 Thursdays in 2101 Woods Hall or feel free to email barkleyb@umd.edu

Annual Maryland NOW Women's History Conference

March 6: Maryland Women's Heritage Center in Baltimore

Maryland NOW's 6th Annual Women's History Conference will be a great place to meet and greet legislators and other power brokers in a relaxed venue. The program features storyteller Ellouise Schoettler with her program "The Hello Girls" about women who served as part of the U.S. Signal Corps in Europe during WWI. State legislators and county and local leaders will discuss various issues affecting women and families. Also part of the program: a presentation on early Md. Delegate Pauline Menes, awards to women leaders, information on Harriet Elizabeth Brown from Calvert County, refreshments, and a networking reception.

If you are running for office or know someone who should be thinking about it, this is the place to be! Leaders will discuss their individual paths to empowerment, and Emerge Maryland will share information about their program which prepares women to run for political office.

Location: Maryland Women's Heritage Center 39 West Lexington Street, Baltimore, MD. Tickets: $24 for students. Reservations and additional info here. Check out their Facebook page for updates here.

Federal/Global Semester Fellows Program

Application due: March 7, 2016

Think a career in government and public service is only for government and politics majors? Think again! Federal agencies, nonprofits, think tanks, and policy-related organizations are interested in your strong arts and humanities academic skills as they confront the pressing issues of today. The Global Semester Fellows and Federal Semester Fellows Programs offer you a chance to take your skills out of the classroom and apply them in the real world. Earn Scholarship in Practice credit and a Fellows Program notation on your transcript!

Both programs combine a fall seminar in an issue area with a spring internship in Washington D.C. Some of our concentrations include: responses to global challenges, energy and environment, and U.S. diplomacy and policy-making. Past internship locations include: congressional offices, federal agencies, NGOs, and non-profits. Activities include trips to Capitol Hill and federal agencies, professional development workshops, and conversations with policymakers.

For details and an application form, go to:

<http://federalsemester.umd.edu> and/or <http://globalsemesterdc.umd.edu>. You can also contact the Federal/Global Semester Fellows Program office: 2407 Marie Mount Hall, 301-314-0261.

First wave of applications will be reviewed on March 7. Rolling admissions thereafter.

Disabilities in a Global Context Program

Deadline: March 15th

UMD's new Internship program empowers students to explore multidisciplinary perspectives on disability on a global comparative scale. Join innovative organizations that seek to eliminate barriers to the full integration of people with disabilities in communities around the globe.

Students who complete the three-part program--on-campus disability course, summer internship, and capstone project and public forum--will earn six academic credits. Coursework is based on campus and on-line. Summer internship locations include: Perú: Ollantaytambo, Cusco; Ecuador: Quito; and Ghana: Kasoa, Central Region. Scholarship opportunities are available.

Want a say in the kind of art
the Stamp collects?

CAPP is now accepting applications for the 2016 – 2017 student committee!

For more information, and to apply, visit
thestamp.umd.edu/gallery

Applications with a letter of recommendation are due April 8

CONTEMPORARY ART PURCHASING PROGRAM

Over the past decade, the Stamp Student Union-Center for Campus Life at the University of Maryland, College Park, has developed an innovative, student-led Contemporary Art Purchasing Program (CAPP) whose mission is to educate and inspire by exposing the campus community to thought-provoking art by noted contemporary artists. The program provides a student committee the opportunity to interact with the art world by researching, discussing, and purchasing by emerging and established contemporary artists. Students of diverse majors are selected to participate in a rigorous application process. Together they embark on a rigorous research and training program, including extensive visits to galleries and artists' studios in Baltimore, New York, and Washington, DC.

The Stamp Gallery is now accepting applicants for the 2016-2017 CAPP committee.

To apply, carefully review program requirements, then submit the online application by April 8, 2016, 11:59 pm EST and send a sealed letter of recommendation from a professor or TA to:

Cecilia Wichmann
Stamp Gallery
1200 Stamp Student Union
University of Maryland, College Park
College Park, MD 20742

To ensure confidentiality, please instruct your letter writer to sign the flap of the envelope in which the recommendation is placed.

Candidate interviews will take place in mid-April and participants will be selected April 29, 2016.

Frequently Asked Questions

Do I need to be an Art History or Studio Art major/minor to apply? Do I need to demonstrate substantial previous experience of work or study in the arts?

Students across all University of Maryland academic programs are encouraged to apply. CAPP's mission is to bring together students of diverse academic backgrounds and interests and empower them to work collectively as student leaders toward the common goal of shaping the University's contemporary art collection.

Do I need a lot of previous knowledge about art?

Applications should demonstrate deep interest in and enthusiasm for the prospect of immersing themselves in the world of contemporary art and artists, but previous knowledge about art is not necessary. CAPP is designed to support students in developing critical knowledge of contemporary art through a required course in Markets and Collecting, mentorship by the CAPP adviser, and research activities as a committee.

How many students will be selected for the 2016-17 CAPP Committee?

Approximately six (6) students are typically selected for the CAPP committee.

I'm a University of Maryland graduate student. Am I eligible to apply?

Yes. One (1) graduate student is typically included on the CAPP committee.

Questions? Contact Stamp Gallery Coordinator Cecilia Wichmann at cwich@umd.edu.

Day Eight Fellowship- Arts Focused Journalism

Deadline: March 28th

Through support from the National Endowment for the Arts, Humanities DC, Brink Media, DCRE Residential, and The Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, Day Eight is hiring an early career arts writer. The Arts Writing Fellow will write and publish articles of arts journalism, contribute to the editorial and business management of the arts magazine Bourgeon, and support production of an e-book featuring D.C. artists.

Fellowship activities are to be conducted in Washington, D.C. and a stipend of $6000 will be provided. The Fellowship period is expected to run June 1, 2016 - December 1, 2016.

About Day Eight

The mission of Day Eight is to empower individuals and the community to participate in the arts through the production, publication, and promotion of creative projects. Our publication program includes the arts magazine Bourgeon, an annual arts writing competition for undergraduates, lectures, trainings and workshops.

Fellowship Details

The selected Arts Writing Fellow will: have superior writing and editing skills; familiarity with desktop publishing and graphic design software programs; professional social media experience and presence; experience managing resources or otherwise taking responsibility for direct work products; and a demonstrated passion for journalism, the media and the arts.

Duties

- Produce a minimum of five articles per month for Bourgeon to be published on our platform and through publication partners. The majority of the articles are expected to be arts criticism (review or preview) but pieces can take a variety of forms.
- Manage the organization's social media channels and organize events and online campaigns that contribute to readership
- Produce at least one long-form article of more than 1200 words in length
- Participate in weekly discussions with the fellowship director and members of the Day Eight committee managing the project
- Assist in publication and promotion of the e-book of the book Bourgeon: Fifty Artists Write About Their Work.

Applications will be reviewed as they are received until March 28, 2016. To apply, click here.

Preferred Majors: All Majors

Job Function: Research

Location: New York, NY

The Immigrants' Rights Project (IRP) is a national project of the American Civil Liberties Union with offices in New York and California. Using targeted impact litigation, advocacy, and public outreach, the Project carries on the ACLU's commitment to protecting the rights and liberties of immigrants. In federal district and appellate courts, including the Supreme Court, the Project conducts the nation's largest impact litigation program dedicated to defending and expanding the rights of immigrants, enforcing the guarantees of the Constitution, and achieving equal justice under the law.

The Project has focused on challenging laws that deny immigrants access to the judicial system, impose indefinite and mandatory detention, and constitute discrimination on the basis of "alienage" by governmental and private entities. IRP's efforts in the enforcement arena seek to ensure the constitutional protections of the Fourth, Fifth, and Fourteenth Amendments, combat racial profiling arising from actual or pretextual immigration enforcement that subjects immigrant communities to racism and hostility, and challenge government policies and practices that undermine or deny immigrants' ability to effectuate their existing legal rights.

Duties

- Conducting factual research.
- Developing web-based informational updates.
- Providing assistance to the department.
- Handling written and telephonic inquiries from people seeking legal assistance.
- Assisting in the maintenance of case files and compiling of press files.
- Tracking current legislation related to immigration.
- Other projects as assigned.

Qualifications

- Commitment to civil liberties and immigrants' rights.
- Strong interest in social justice and legal issues.
- Excellent writing and communication skills.
- Strong computer skills, particularly web-based research and facility with Microsoft Office programs (Word, Excel, and PowerPoint).
- Proficiency in Spanish a plus.
- Demonstrated initiative to see projects through to completion.
- Ability to perform tasks as well as research and writing.

Application deadline: April 29, 2016

Reproductive Health Technologies Project

Position Type: Paid Internship (Summer)

ID#: 134988 careers.umd.edu

Preferred Class: Junior, Senior

Preferred Majors: All majors

Location: Washington, DC

The Reproductive Health Technologies Project (RHTP), a non-profit advocacy organization in Washington, DC, seeks an undergraduate intern for June - August 2016. Exact start and end dates are negotiable. This is a part-time position at $11.50/hour for approximately 24 hours a week; flexible scheduling is available during open office hours, Monday-Friday 9am-6pm. The intern will report to the Senior Policy Associate.

About RHTP

The mission of RHTP is to change the political and commercial climate in the United States so that people have access to the technologies they need to become pregnant when they are ready, prevent or end a pregnancy when they are not, and promote their health and wellbeing throughout their reproductive lives. Our current program areas are abortion technologies, contraceptive technologies, and health and wellness (focusing on the intersections between environmental and reproductive health).

Duties

- Assist with day-to-day office operations, including answering phones, maintaining office equipment and filing systems, and administrative support to the staff.
- Conduct background research for specific project initiatives or immediate public policy needs, particularly related to emerging or current reproductive technologies, and summarize findings in a clear and concise manner.

- Assist with the coordination of meetings, conferences, and events, including logistics planning, preparing materials, and compiling notes.
- Attend coalition meetings and briefings as a representative of RHTP.
- Review and update past RHTP materials.
- Monitor and post social media content as needed.

Qualifications

- This position is ideal for someone pursuing an undergraduate degree, preferably in their junior or senior year.
- Demonstrated commitment to reproductive health, rights, and justice issues.
- Ability to manage multiple projects and a variety of tasks.
- Excellent writing and research skills.
- Self-directed and strong problem-solving abilities.
- Excellent interpersonal skills and professional demeanor.
- Proficiency with Microsoft Word and Excel.
- Familiarity with reproductive health organizations and initiatives a plus.

Please e-mail cover letter, resumé, and the required application form to info@rhtp.org, with "Summer Internship Application" in the subject line. We will consider applications on a rolling basis until Friday, March 18, 2016 at 5pm.

Lambda Legal's law reform, policy and education work encompasses a wide range of areas, including federal and state constitutional law issues, discrimination in employment, benefits, housing, insurance, schools and other areas, harassment and violence, antigay ballot initiatives, access to healthcare and HIV-related treatments, child custody, visitation and adoption, the freedom to marry and sodomy law reform.

Responsibilities

- The intern will assist primarily with Lambda Legal's Fair Courts Project.
- This internship will not offer any opportunity to be directly involved with any aspects of litigation.

Qualifications

- Candidates should have a strong interest in Lambda Legal's work, and specifically in the Fair Courts Project.
- Candidates with experience related to these areas are preferred.
- Candidates should have had substantial political science undergraduate course work.

Compensation

- This is a volunteer nonpaying position, applicants are strongly encouraged to seek out and apply for grants from their school or other sources.

Application

- The title of the position MUST appear in the first line of the envelope if mailing or subject line if emailing.
- Please send resume and cover letter explaining your interest in this position and qualifications for it, to: Eric Lesh - Fair Courts Project Internship -- elesh@lambdalegal.org.

Internships are available throughout the year.

Lambda Legal is committed to further building and maintaining a staff that reflects the full range of LGBT, HIV and allied communities, and is an equal opportunity employer. People of color, transgender and gender-nonconforming people, women, people with abilities in multiple languages, immigrants, and people living with disabilities, including HIV, are encouraged to apply.

Governor's Summer Internship Program

Quote of the Week

My 'dream' action for the women's liberation movement: a smile boycott, at which declaration all women would instantly abandon their 'pleasing' smiles, henceforth smiling only when something pleased them.

~Shulamith Firestone, The Dialectic of Sex: The Case for Feminist Revolution
