Spring Break Plans

Community Forum: Women's Environmental Leadership Saturday, March 18

This discussion will celebrate the various ways women of diverse ages and backgrounds have been advocating on behalf of the environment and their communities. What experiences and visions have they brought to their advocacy work? What are the various arenas in which women are leading advocacy efforts? What steps can be taken to ensure that the next generation of young women is ready to join efforts aimed at creating equitable, healthy environments for all?

Panel Moderator: Vernice Miller-Travis, Skeo Solutions

Panelists: Josephine Chu, Common Good City Farm
Kerene Tayloe, WE ACT for Environmental Justice
Ellyn Weiss, Artist

LOCATION: Smithsonian Anacostia Community Museum, 1901 Fort Place SE, Washington, DC

TIME: Saturday, March 18, 2:00-4:00 pm

This event is FREE and open to the public.

Environmental Film Festival Screening: 100 Years: One Woman's Fight for Justice Saturday, March 18

When Elouise Pépion Cobell, of the Blackfeet Nation, started asking questions about missing money from government managed Indian Trust accounts, she never imagined that one day she would be taking on the world's most powerful government. But what she discovered as the treasurer of her tribe was a trail of fraud and corruption leading all the way from Montana to Washington DC. 100 Years is the story of her 30-year fight for justice for 300,000 American Indians whose oil, timber, and mineral rich lands were grossly mismanaged by the United States government. In 1996, Cobell took her struggle to the courts. The lawsuit spanned three presidencies but eventually resulted in the United States government agreeing to pay 3.4 billion dollars, the largest ever federal class action settlement. 100 Years: One Woman's Fight for Justice (2016, 76 min.) chronicles Cobell's efforts.

In attendance at the film screening: Filmmaker Melinda Janko and Cobell's attorneys.

LOCATION: National Museum of the American Indian, Rasmuson Theatre

TIME: Saturday, March 18, 7:00-9:00 pm

Admission is FREE but registering for the film is recommended, and will reserve seats until 15 mins before the screening begins.

Woven: Film Screening and Filmmaker Q&A Saturday, March 18, and Sunday, March 19

Film screening followed by Q&A with director/screenwriter/producer/lead actress Salome Mulugeta, director/producer Nagwa Ibrahim, and actress Alemtsehay Wedajo.

Mulugeta stars as Elenie, a young Ethiopian-American psychologist determined to uncover the truth after a mysterious crime takes the life of her only brother. A multilayered story of love, loss, responsibility, and forgiveness, Woven showcases Ethiopian culture and the nuanced complexity of an interconnected world.

LOCATION: AFI Silver Theatre, 8633 Colesville Road, Silver Spring, MD
TIME: Saturday, March 18, 7:00 pm and Sunday, March 19, 8:45 pm

DC Arts Center Poetry Event: In Your Ear Sunday, March 19

Each month In Your Ear features reading and performances by different sets of poets who draw on an avant-garde tradition. This month features readings by Desiree Bailey, Jennifer Kronovet, & Taryn Schwilling.

Desiree C. Bailey was born in Trinidad and Tobago, and grew up in Queens, NY. She is the author of the fiction chapbook In Dirt or Saltwater (O'Clock Press, 2016). Her poetry and fiction has been published in Best American Poetry, Callaloo, The Rumpus and Transition, among other publications. She has an MFA from Brown University and has received fellowships from Poets House, The Norman Mailer Center, Callaloo Creative Writing Workshop, Kimbilio and Princeton in Africa. She is also a recipient of the Poets & Writers' Amy Award.

Jennifer Kronovet is the author of THE WUG TEST (Ecco Press), which was selected for last year's National Poetry Series. She is also the author of the poetry collection AWAYWARD. Under the name Jennifer Stern, she co-translated EMPTY CHAIRS, poetry by the Chinese writer Liu Xia. She is a founding editor of CIRCUMFERENCE, the journal of poetry in translation.

Taryn Schwilling is the author of the poetry collection The Anatomist [YesYes Books, 2015]. The recipient of a Fulbright grant, Taryn has recently lived, taught, and conducted research in Cambodia and Iraq. She is a graduate of the Iowa Writers' Workshop and Boise State University and is currently a PhD candidate at the University of Denver.

Cinema + Conversation: Beyond the Prison Walls Wednesday, March 22

The Prison in Twelve Landscapes*, 2016, USA/Canada and I, Destini, 2016, USA, DC Premiere -- two films in the Environmental Film Festival

The Prison in Twelve Landscapes, dir. Brett Story, is a film about the prison in the places we least expect to find it: a California mountainside where female prisoners fight the region's raging wildfires, a warehouse in the Bronx full of goods specially produced to meet the arcane regulations of the state correctional system. This is a nonfiction film about prisons in which we never see an actual penitentiary.

I, Destini, dir. Destini Riley & Nicholas Pilarski, is an animated documentary that explores the poignant and imaginative illustrations of a young woman grappling with the effects of having an incarcerated brother.

I, Destini directors Riley and Pilarski will be present to discuss their film.

LOCATION: National Museum of African American History and Culture, Oprah Winfrey Theater
TIME: Wednesday, March 22, 3:00-5:00pm

This event is FREE but reservations are required.

OutWrite Presents Warrior Poets, Speaking as Resistance Wednesday, March 22

Readings by Taylor Johnson, Danielle Reed, and PeaceJah. Introductions by Victoria Newton Ford.

Victoria Newton Ford is a black queer poet from the South, currently living in DC. She has been writing for more than 10 years, and her interests are centered around the black feminist practices of survival, healing, family, spirituality, and history. She is the co-winner of the 2016 Deacon Maccubin Young Writer Award in Poetry.

Taylor Johnson's poetry has received recognition from Callaloo, Cave Canem, Lambda Literary Foundation.

Danielle Reed aka the Girl Genius has honed her skills in the DMV, Baltimore and Atlanta poetry scenes. In the 2015 and 2015 seasons she was a finalist for Baltimore's national slam team.

LOCATION: Reading Room at Petworth Citizen, 829 Upshur St NW, Washington, DC. Enter through the Petworth Citizen main entrance; the Reading Room is to the right off the back.
TIME: Wednesday, March 22, 7:00 - 9:00 pm

The event is FREE and open to the public. All welcome.

African American Heroines of the Civil War Saturday, March 25

Join the Historical Society of Washington, D.C. and author, lecturer and historian of the African Diaspora C.R. Gibbs for his presentation of "African American Heroines of the Civil War," a refreshing and highly informative look at the many and varied roles of Black women during one of the most critical periods of American history. C.R. Gibbs will introduce you to an entirely new cast of Black women whose dramatic courage, bold resourcefulness, and dogged persistence will give you new insights into some of the Civil War's least known chapters.

LOCATION: African American Civil War Museum, 1925 Vermont Avenue NW, Washington, DC

TIME: Saturday, March 25, 12:00 - 1:30 p.m.

This event is FREE and open to the public. Register here.

Cinema + Conversation: Women of the L.A. Rebellion Saturday, March 25

This block of short films explores the often overlooked contributions of women filmmakers to the UCLA filmmaking movement known as "The L.A. Rebellion." The afternoon includes films by directors Shirikiana Aina, Zeinabu Davis, O. Funmilayo Makarah, Sharon Larkin, and Julie Dash, all of whom were central to this effort by young African and African-American filmmakers to reimagine the film production process so as to create a new Black Cinema which represented, reflected on, and enriched the day to day lives of people in their communities.

LOCATION: National Museum of African American History and Culture, Oprah Winfrey Theater

TIME: 12:00-5:00pm

This event is FREE but reservations are required. Click here for a full description of the films and to register.

Digital Dialogue: Spotlighting Hidden Histories - Archiving Transgender Usenet, 1994-2013

Tuesday, March 28

Digitization and online access are often presented as an important tool for making history, particularly those whose histories are rarely told, accessible to a broader audience. However, what happens to born-digital materials which can technically be accessed but whose content and format may not be accessible in the contemporary media environment? In this presentation, Avery Dame, Women's Studies PhD candidate, will talk about his process working with materials from the Usenet Historical Collection to build the Transgender Usenet Archive and conduct his own research. He will discuss the technical and ethical challenges he faced in building the archive, as well as how these challenges informed his own research into early use of the term "cisgender" in transgender discourse.

6th Annual Women Leading Women Event

Thursday, March 30

Women Leading Women is an annual event designed to showcase, celebrate and empower UMD's fearless female alumnae and other women in business. Hosted by the Smith School's Office of Diversity Initiatives. Women Leading Women is part of an important conversation about closing the gender enrollment gap at business schools and getting more women into the C-suite. The event inspires and challenges attendees to realize and reach their full potential.

This year's honoree is financial planner and industry leader Marguerita (Rita) Cheng. Cheng, a 1993 Smith School alumna, is founder and CEO of Blue Ocean Global Wealth in Rockville, Md. She launched her business in 2013 to help families better manage their resources and plan for the future. Her objective? To help her clients reach their life goals.

Academic Enrichment Grants for Women's Studies Majors

Deadline: April 7

Women's Studies Majors are eligible to apply for Academic Enrichment Grants to fund research, or participation in academic or leadership conferences and workshops, or other activities that will enhance your education in women's, gender, and/or sexuality studies.

Application deadline is April 7. Applications may be submitted for projects during the February 2017 to August 2017 time period.

To apply, send a 250-500 word statement about the project/conference/workshop/organizing meeting, etc. for which you are requesting funding and indicate how you see this relating to your work in Women's Studies. Also, submit a resume, budget, the name of one professor who can serve as a recommender, and, if applicable, a list of any other sources from which you are requesting funding for this same project. If applying for an activity that occurred prior to the application deadline, please submit copies of receipts to accompany your budget.

Applications submitted after the April 7 deadline will be considered if there are remaining Academic Enrichment funds for the semester.

Maximum award: $500.00.

For questions about these grants or assistance with developing your proposal, please talk with Professor Elsa Barkley Brown, Director of Undergraduate Studies. Professor Barkly Brown's spring 2017 office hours are 11:30-1:00 Mondays in 2101 Woods Hall or feel free to email barkleyb@umd.edu.

Lavender Leadership Honor Society Accepting Applications

Do you know a UMD student (undergrad or grad) that's been involved in leadership or volunteerism with LGBTQ+ communities? Maybe that student is you? Even if leadership took an atypical form, please consider asking the student to apply for the Lavender Leadership Honor Society today. Students may apply here: <http://go.umd.edu/lhs17>. You will also find additional details about the honor society and answers to your questions at the link.

The induction ceremony will take place on Friday, April 28th in the Memorial Chapel at 4:00pm (though inductees must arrive a little bit earlier). We invite all students, staff, faculty, and alumni, as well as family and friends to join us in celebration. We will serve light refreshments and inductees will receive a special lavender terrapin lapel pin - exclusively for Society members, and a certificate.

DUE DATE: Friday, March 31

Spotlight: Advising

The time to sign up for Fall 2017 classes is just around the corner! Putting the Spotlight on Advising this issue, we invite you to think about the range of advising resources available to you in the Women's Studies Department.

1. Meet with Dr. JV Sapinosa, Undergraduate Advisor for WMST to:

- Keep in good contact with your advisor
- Identify which requirements you need to fulfill, and what courses are being offered
- See past course syllabi so that you can make a more informed decision about what classes you might want to take
- Find scholarships, internships, and/or job opportunities
- Keep in touch! Schedule a meeting with him by going to <http://ter.ps/meetJV> or send him an update via email to sapinosa@umd.edu

2. The WMST/LGBT Faculty Are Eager to Meet with You to:

- Get to know you better so that they can write strong letters of recommendation
- Know about your interests outside the classroom so that they think to nominate you for undergraduate awards and prizes
- Talk with you about interesting areas of research
- Help you brainstorm ideas for what to do after you leave UMD
- Help you think about applying to graduate school
- Work with you to find different resources on campus as you navigate the institution
- Find out what a really cool person you are.

3. Contact Dr. Barkley Brown, Director of Undergraduate Studies in the department to:

- discuss the requirements of the internship, find a faculty advisor for the internship, and to get your internship learning contract approved
- learn more about the Honors Program, its requirements, and the kind of project you might take up in the program

- to have a better sense of the criteria for awards, scholarships, and prizes or for help in applying for any
- discuss concerns about a class or an instructor
- make suggestions about courses, events, or activities you would like to see the department sponsor

Contact Professor Barkley Brown by email - barkleyb@umd.edu - or stop by her office hours, Mondays, 11:30-1, 2101 Woods Hall.

Federal/Global Fellows Program

Think a career in government and public service is only for government and politics majors? Think again! Federal agencies, nonprofits, think tanks, and policy-related organizations are interested in your strong arts and humanities academic skills as they confront the pressing issues of today. The Global Fellows and Federal Fellows Programs offer you a chance to take your skills out of the classroom and apply them in the real world. Apply today! Earn Scholarship in Practice credit and a Fellows Program notation on your transcript!

Both programs combine a fall seminar in an issue area with a spring internship in Washington D.C. Some possible concentrations include: Responses to Global Challenges, Energy and Environment, and U.S. Diplomacy and Policymaking. Past internship locations include: Congressional offices, federal agencies, NGOs, non-profits-- you name it! Activities include trips to Capitol Hill and federal agencies, professional development workshops, and conversations with policymakers.

For details regarding the application requirements, go to <http://federalfellows.umd.edu> and/or <http://globalfellowsdc.umd.edu> or contact the program office: 2407 Marie Mount Hall, 301-314-0261.

First wave of applications will be reviewed on April 7. Rolling admissions thereafter.

Acts of Faith: Submit Your Art!

Scholarship for Student Activists

Deadline: April 1

Since 1961 the Davis-Putter Scholarship Fund has provided need-based grants to students doing academic work at the undergraduate or graduate level who are involved in building movements for social and economic justice on campus and in the community. Recent grantees have been active in the struggle against racism, sexism, homophobia and other forms of oppression; building the movement for economic justice; and creating peace through international anti-imperialist solidarity. This is a critical time of resistance with growing numbers on the frontlines of social change in movements for economic and racial justice, prison abolition, immigration struggles, indigenous rights, reproductive justice, climate justice and LGBTQ rights. Student leaders in these movements are encouraged to apply.

The maximum grant available from the Davis-Putter Scholarship Fund is $10,000 per year and may be considerably smaller depending on the applicant's circumstances and on the funding available. Recipients must reapply each year support is sought. Twenty-five to thirty grants are awarded each year.

Students who are not U.S. citizens are welcome to apply but all applicants must have participated in organizing activities in the United States and be planning on staying in the U.S. after graduation and working to build the progressive movement in this country.

An online application must be submitted along with a personal statement (no more than 1000 words), two letters of recommendation, transcripts, financial aid reports by April 1. Incarcerated applicants may request a paper application. Those selected to receive a grant will be notified in July.

For questions about the Fund, the application process, and eligibility requirements, see their website.

UMD Dialogues Expression Contest

Deadline: March 27

Maryland Dialogues on Diversity & Inclusion encourages advancing discussions of identity, difference and commonality. Because meaningful dialogue and critical thinking can change culture, Maryland Dialogues invites your thoughts on race and racism. Genetic Alliance

Position Type: Internship (Fall or Spring Part-Time), Winter/January Term Internship

ID#: 106097

Job Function: Communication, Education/Teaching, Healthcare, Research, Sciences, Social Services

Location: Washington, DC

Compensation: Stipend

Description: Work in Expecting Health focuses on improving the health delivery system for women, children, and families across multiple points in life. The lens of screening and testing is used throughout the preconception, prenatal, and childhood periods to increase knowledge and promote the dissemination of evidence-based materials and resources. A cornerstone of this area is Baby's First Test (www.BabysFirstTest.org), the nation's center for newborn screening for parents and health providers.

This program integrates grassroots education, national policy, and broad public awareness to highlight one of the most successful public health programs in the nation. During this internship, participants will help research existing novel approaches to education and clinical care, help craft policy briefs and thought articles, and work on creative visual campaigns to reach a range of stakeholders. Strong skills in communications, project planning, technical and creative writing are encouraged.

Qualifications: Genetic Alliance Interns come from a variety of academic and professional backgrounds, but all interns share a common passion for strengthening health systems and taking the health advocacy community to a new level.

Please visit the organization's website at www.geneticalliance.org/internships for more information.

- Research and prepare client education materials and other information for Wellspring internal use, including presentation slides and regular client updates.

 External Representation

- Coordinate calls and meetings with peer funders and funder affinity groups.
- Represent Wellspring at site visits and conferences.

LIMITATIONS AND DISCLAIMER

The above job description is meant to describe the general nature and level of work being performed; it is not intended to be construed as an exhaustive list of all responsibilities, duties and skills required for the position. The team member may be required to perform duties outside of their normal responsibilities from time to time, as needed.

SALARY AND BENEFITS

Salary range: $60-$65,000 based on experience. Wellspring offers a very generous benefits package including payment of 100% of the health insurance premiums for employees (and 80% of the premiums for spouses, domestic partners and qualified family members).

Wellspring also offers other benefits including life insurance, long-term disability protection, a group 401(k) retirement plan (with an employer match), support for continuing education, and is committed to providing transgender-inclusive healthcare.

ABOUT WELLSPRING

Established in 2001, Wellspring is a private philanthropic consulting firm that coordinates grantmaking programs that advance the realization of human rights and social and economic justice for all people. Wellspring has offices in New York, NY, and Washington, DC.

Wellspring's work is rooted in respect for the dignity and worth of every human being and is informed by the following beliefs:

- * Social institutions and structures should promote the full realization of human rights and human potential, and should be accountable to these ends.
- * The rights of all people are advanced when the rights of the most marginalized and vulnerable peoples are protected.
- * Social justice movements should employ means that are consistent with their ideals, and should give agency to the people whose interests they seek to advance.
- * As responsible stewards, we must strive to maximize the impact of our charitable investments.

The firm's services include: working with donors to develop, implement and administer giving programs that meet their philanthropic goals; conducting research and education tailored to the interests of our donors; managing programs, administering grants and monitoring grantee performance; and working to promote the effectiveness of programs that receive donor funding.

Wellspring Advisors, LLC, hires, promotes and retains employees based on their professional qualifications, demonstrated abilities and work performance, as well as on the degree to which these qualities are required in the employment positions made available by the Firm's service needs and business requirements.

All personnel decisions, including but not limited to recruitment, hiring, compensation, assignment, training, promotion, discipline and discharge, are made without discrimination based on race, color, religion, national origin, citizenship, ancestry, age, disability, gender identity or expression, genetic predisposition or carrier status, marital or familial status, domestic partner status, veteran or military status, sex, sexual orientation or any other characteristic protected by federal, state, or local law (each a "protected characteristic"). This policy also bans discriminatory harassment. Qualified candidates for employment having records of arrest or criminal conviction will be considered.
